

God Speaks

Words and Music by Richard Blauvelt

God speaks to Moses; Says He has heard
Cries from the children of God
Cries of His people; Cries from their heart;
Cries of the poor and downtrod
God said to Moses "This should not be!"
Go and tell Pharaoh to set them free!

Go! Say! Release my people today.
They shall be slaves no more
They'll stand on the Mount of the Lord
Stand on the Mount of the Lord

God speaks to Jesus; You are my Son
You are the One to proclaim
The gospel of freedom, my jubilee
The year of my favor toward man
Satan's dominion must come to an end
Free all his captives they've been for - given

Go! Say! Release my people today.
They shall be slaves no more
They'll enter the House of the Lord
Enter the House of the Lord

The God of creation is speaking to you
He says that you have a choice
Deliver His message, deliver the truth
Or turn and ignore His voice
No explanation offered will do
Go in the power He's given you.

Go! Say! Release my people today.
They shall be slaves no more
They'll rejoice in the House of the Lord
For their joy is complete
They're a people renewed and released

Not slaves as before

They'll ascend to the Mount of the Lord

Enter the House of the Lord
